Dekton® Advantages

Dekton iD. All Dekton® advantages. No limits

Dekton® is a sophisticated mixture of more than 20 minerals extracted from nature. Its production process is the result of years of experience and is inspired by cutting edge glass, porcelain and quartz manufacturing.

Dekton® uses the exclusive TSP technology in its manufacturing process, synthesising mineral particles so that they join together and make a compact internal structure. Thanks to TSP, Dekton offers the following advantages.

Ideal performance in environments with extreme temperature changes.

High UV resistance. Thanks to a composition based on inorganic materials, its colour will never fade.

Dekton® is a non-porous material (<0.2%), making it very easy to clean and maintain as new.

Stains and dirt can be easily removed. You can even use abrasive products: neither colour or texture will be damaged.

Furthermore, thanks to its non-porous surface, graffiti and tough stains will not penetrate Dekton® structure.

Dekton XGloss water-repellent material provides a spectacular shine to every surface.

Dekton® offers the best fire resistance performance.

Tests indicate that Dekton® offers values higher than 45/ mm2, making it one of the most reliable materials on the market.

Dekton® makes the building and fitting of any type of façade easier.

DEKTON ID UNLIMITED Case Study Toha by Ron Arad + Avner Yashar

Customised colour, graded in six shades

The Toha skyscraper challenge was clear from the very beginning: to create, from a photographic reference provided by the architecture studio in charge of the project, a customised colour with a six-shade colour transition.

The collaboration between the team of architects, which received sketches and feedback during the process, and the dynamic and well-coordinated work of Cosentino's team, made it possible to overcome the challenge and achieve a perfect colour gradient.

Large format design possibilities

Large-format Dekton® panels were used to give visual continuity to the building. In addition, the installation of Dekton® panels had to be done in a very specific way: angled in a criss-cross pattern, creating a ventilated façade, unique in the world.

Case Study Centro Comercial Origo by Gudmundsson Arkitektur AB

Projects that fit like a puzzle

Origo Shopping Centre, in Latvia, has recently been refurbished with a new, avant-garde design.

The main visual attraction of the new facilities lies in the clock embedded in the flooring of one of its central squares. Customised pieces fitted together like a puzzle and create a high-impact visual sensation from Sirius and Danae colours.

With Dekton iD, slabs can be cut to size and adapted into the desired design. For Origo, more than ten customised cuts of large-format slabs were made to achieve a unique flooring design.

DEKTON ID UNLIMITED Baku Airport

3D flooring

The Baku airport captivates the traveller from the minute they enter, as they are greeted with extensive Dekton flooring, consisting of equilateral triangles of 1.5 metres side length, designed especially for the entrance. The chromatic variation in three shades of Sirius colour -specifically created for this design-, together with the geometric shapes, produce a striking 3D effect of raised cubes that is reflected in the window of the main entrance to the building.
